

The Parents Fair

@ the Kids Exchange Consignment Sale

Exhibitor's Kit

July 13 - 16, 2023

Thank you for your interest in The Parents Fair @ the Kids Exchange Sale. Enclosed, please find details regarding the Parents Fair and general tools & tactics for making the most out of this trade show.

IT’S SMARTER TO BRING YOUR STORE FRONT TO THE PEOPLE!”

The Kids Exchange & Parents Fair is unique and unlike most trade shows. The Sales Area is what draws the crowd of 2000 Sellers and 20,000+ shoppers. Our demographics are very targeted, reaching mothers with children ages “pregnant” - 12 years. We do have items for older children / teens, but these demographics represent the majority of our market. The Parents Fair simply creates a way for local business to get in front of busy parents. All shoppers must pass every booth while waiting in line to checkout. This creates a great environment to build relationships, gain exposure and build mailing lists. We recommend that you reach out to the shoppers in a unique way. For example: SaladMaster will offer a sample of their “salad cake” to promote their great products. This creates a reason for the parents to take interest in their booth. Other ideas include “1 minute hand massages” or having staff on hand to help the moms to their cars with their bags. What better way to make a great first impression! With a goal of building strong relationships, business is sure to follow. At this event, the “pampering” should be geared towards the mother, instead of the children. Please note that all food / beverage samples must be pre-approved by the State Fairgrounds staff one month prior to the event. We must honor the Fairgrounds agreement with the concessionaire.

MAILING LIST:

The Kids Exchange is a wonderful place to build your mailing list. Please provide a “giveaway” at your booth to encourage shoppers to sign up to win. This mailing list will be very useful for you in the future because the shoppers have met you face to face and they are no longer a "cold call". Please have a giveaway valued at $50.00+. Exhibitor will choose their own winner and arrange getting the gift to them. During the Kids Exchange, please feel free to mingle throughout the building, meeting moms and allowing them to sign up for your giveaway.

Approaching moms in this way will create additional exposure for your business. Please remember to have registration slips, pens and a box for the slips at your booth. Note: on your registration slips, be sure to include a place for any information you would like to have from the shopper. (ie: email, children's ages, birthdays, etc.) This will prove to be very useful in your future marketing.

- EXHIBITOR SET UP: Tuesday, 2/7: 10am - 7pm & Wednesday, 2/8: , 9am - 11am. The building will close promptly at 11am on Wednesday. Note: Please have booths set up by 11am on Wednesday, 2/8. You may also set up when you arrive on Thursday, but the building only open 15 minutes before sale hours.
- STAFFING YOUR BOOTH: The Kids Exchange has 4 1/2 selling days. The decision of whether or not to staff your booth for the entire show is optional. If you choose not to staff your booth at any time, please leave brochures out for the shoppers. In the section labeled HOURS, I have listed the Sale Hours and noted the busiest times. You will want to staff your booth during these times. On Wednesday our volunteers shop from 1pm - 8pm. There will be approximately 500 shoppers. Please note that these are our "loyal" shoppers. This group loves to get involved in the community and really enjoys being "hands on" in this great event. I recommend staffing your booth during this time, not only to come face to face with these shoppers, but also to use this time to prepare for Thursday - which is our busiest day.
- BREAK DOWN: Please leave booths set up for the entire show. Break down will begin Sunday @ 5pm. The building will be open until 9:30pm Sunday night for your convenience.
- PAYMENT:
10 x 10 booth: $595.00
Double Booth (10 x 20): $1100

$100 deposit is due upon reserving your booth. Please pay by check. Please mail your registration form (included with this packet) and deposit to the address below. Balances are due (1) month out from the event. We do accept PayPal. If you would like to pay by credit card or paypal, please request an invoice. A 3.5% fee applies when using a credit card.

- ADMISSION: The Parents Fair and the Kids Exchange are both free admission events. No Exhibitor Badges are necessary to enter.
- PARKING: *The best place for exhibitors to park is between the 2 buildings on the back side of the property. Drive around either the Expo Building or the Graham Building to access this area.
- CONCESSIONS: The Fairgrounds has an agreement with the owner of the restaurant located in our building. Exhibitors are not allowed to hand out concessions of any kind (food or drink / sold or free). 2 ounce samples are allowed if related directly to your product. Samples must be pre-approved by the State Fairgrounds Staff one month before the event.
- EXPOSURE: The shoppers will wait in line to check while passing every Exhibitor Booth. This traffic flow allows each and every exhibitor face to face contact with ALL shoppers! The opposite side of your booth will be open to the sale floor. Shoppers may access your booth on this side without waiting in the checkout line. Your success is very important to us. The Parents Fair is a high priority to the Kids Exchange organizers. We will do everything possible to direct the shoppers to your booth. Please note that your booth will NOT have a traditional 8' backdrop.
- Your booth includes (2) skirted tables & (2) chairs

Tactics for a successful show:

Tactic #1: Set attainable goals for the show and have a clear strategy on how to accomplish them. The Kids Exchange & Parents Fair is not only a retail event. You should set goals like: collecting 200 prospect leads, booking 100 appointments, signing up 10 new clients, increasing company awareness, and beginning the process of building long-term relationships. While some businesses will have products to sell on-site, gathering the information to establish a long term customer will normally prove to be more profitable. Make sure your goals are clear and share them in detail with all staff members working your booth.

“A GOAL IS NOT A GOAL UNLESS IS IT WRITTEN DOWN AND CLEARLY UNDERSTOOD BY ALL INVOLVED!”

Zig Ziglar

Tactic #2: Target your message to your audience. Your sales message should be geared to show how your product or service benefits the family or a specific member of the family.

Tactic #3: Choose a mom-friendly activity that can be completed in less than 1 minute, and is simple and inexpensive for you to produce. Offer something fun for mom. Having the mom pass your booth excited to participate in your activity, eliminates the anxiety of reaching across the aisle and making that initial introduction with your new potential customer that is common for most. Once the customer is in front of your booth, (your comfort zone), they are willing to engage in conversation and give you the necessary info to create a list of your target market. Your list provides you with a link to your new customers – therefore making your $$ and effort well worth the immediate and future benefits that this unique marketing strategy will provide. This is impossible to do with traditional marketing. You need to entertain the mom long enough to introduce yourself to the customer, qualify them, and promise to follow up with them later.

Tactic #4. Send prospects a personal invitation to visit your booth. Invite current clients to visit the Kids Exchange and receive a gift or discount at your booth.

Tactic #5: Use captivating signs and graphics in your booth. You have 3.5 seconds to make an impression. If your booth is attractive and eye-catching your prospects will stop. Spell out for your prospects what's in it for them. Use your signage to highlight a few specific products, services, or specials that you are offering.

Tactic # 6: Create an opportunity to sell. People expect bargains and ease of entry at shows. Often, you will do best by offering specials on your smallest products and services at the show. ie: A furniture store might focus on selling accessories but showcase the furniture so potential customers understand the product quality when they are in the market for the larger, more expensive items.

Tactic #7: Arrange your booth so it encourages prospects and customers to enter. A table arranged down the side of your booth will give you the opening to engage with your prospects directly.

IT’S SMARTER TO BRING YOUR STORE FRONT TO THE PEOPLE!”

Tactic #8: Stand up! Body language is important. Your actions, emotions, etc. help create an inviting atmosphere. If you omit this tactic, the beauty of this booth may have been in vain.

Consider offering your chairs to weary parents! Building a relationship with clients involves a series of small closes. The first close is getting them in your booth.

Tactic #9: Avoid taking too much literature to the show. (Your money is better spent in creating a dynamic booth, therefore leaving a visual impression!) Mail it instead. Literature passed out at trade shows may get lost in a pile. Demonstrate your responsiveness - instead of passing out your own literature, prepare promotional packets in advance and mail them to prospects when you get back to work on Monday. If someone wants a brochure, say "I sure do, but I didn't think you'd want to carry literature around with you today, so why don't I mail it straight to your home or office?" You can be sure that they will read it when it arrives in the mail.

Tactic #10: Provide a give-away in your booth. On your registration forms, make sure to ask the customer any questions that will qualify them as your niche market and help you with your future contacts. Feel free to make this a mandatory field. The give-away serves as an ice breaker to discuss your business. It also provides you with a non-evasive way to obtain the necessary information you need to qualify them as your customer and maintain future contact. This drawing, along with making a visual impression with shoppers with a well designed booth and fun interaction assures success and well spent time and money.

Tactic # 11: Identify your market from your registration forms. We advise you to maintain contact with the majority of all those who register. If some registrants aren't your immediate market, they do have an arc of impulse and will forward your name to a qualifying friend. Don't ignore them. However, the majority of your effort should be focused on your specific market. You should make your first contact as soon as possible.

Tactic #12: Finish the job! Would it surprise you to know that only a very small percentage of exhibitors actually follow up with trade show prospect leads? Those that do, reap the benefits of new business. Your prospects have met you, seen how family-friendly your company is, and have been introduced to your products and services. Don't let them go home and forget about you! Follow-up with your hot prospects the week after the Parents Fair. Send every lead a thank-you note for stopping by your booth along with a promotional invitation to visit you at your store front. Give them a reason to act in the form of a discount or special offer.

Tactic #13: Follow up - All year long. People purchase when there is a need. If you have made an impression on someone, and remind them of your existence monthly, you are likely to be the first choice when that time arrives. Unless you spend massive amounts of money on BRANDING, this is impossible to do with traditional marketing. (ie: your occasional $1500.00 on a newspaper ad.) Once you have identified your marketable prospects, never lose contact with them. Communicate monthly by postcard, phone, email, etc. (When possible, remember something personal about the new customer and remind them of it. This can be easily obtained by creating a profile sheet on new customers and noting conversations and interactions.) Example: If your business lends itself to a Kids' Birthday Club, get the names and birthdates of the children. Send no-strings-attached offers to come into your store for a birthday gift. Moms love to be pampered and Dads like to feel special, too, so don't forget to ask about anniversaries and parent birthdays. Receiving hand-signed holiday and birthday cards from you during the year will surely continue to give these families a positive impression of you and your business.

"Keep on doing what you're doing & you keep on getting what you're getting!"

Zig Ziglar

Congratulations for being in the small percentage of business owners who are willing to step outside of the "norm" and find new ways to get the job done. Growth is sure to follow!
